The hospital-based physicians who practice at Stanly Regional Medical Center are independent medical professionals. Their practices are neither owned nor operated by Stanly Regional Medical Center. The physician owners of these practices make their own decisions as to which managed care programs they will join.

You should not assume that just because Stanly Regional Medical Center participates with a particular managed care plan that the hospital-based physicians do also. This guide is provided to Stanly Regional Medical Center patients in order to communicate which managed care entities these hospital-based physicians participate in as of the revision date listed below. This information is subject to change at any time. It is advisable to check with your insurance company as to whether your specific hospital-based physician(s) is/are a participating provider with your specific health plan prior to obtaining services, or as soon thereafter as possible.
